

Dr. Nancy Targett is the Dean of the College of Earth, Ocean, and Environment at the University of Delaware, and Director of the Delaware Sea Grant College Program.” She has served on many committees and edited journals related to marine ecology and was named a National Associate of the National Academy of Sciences in recognition of her service.